To write in a candidate on a voting machine:
1. Pull the levers for all the regular candidates for whom you wish to vote. This will prevent you from locking out any races.
2. At the top left-hand corner of the machine is a silver button, below which is a column of sliding covers over the list of the candidates on the ballot for each office.
3. Press this button and slide open the covers for the race for which you wish to write-in a candidate. This will expose the paper on which you may write the candidate's name.
4. Close the voting machine once you're done and it will register the write-in vote.

A Vote Recorder System uses punch cards. On each ballot card there are two stubs. The poll booth worker tears off one stub before you deposit your ballot card. The other stub has a series of lines on it. On these lines you write BOTH the name of the candidate and the office for which they are running.
